

John L. Scott Real Estate

The John L. Scott corporate team was experienced at all levels of design and construction, and had specific contractor requirements for their new 8,400 sq. ft. flagship office in Portland's Lloyd Center district. Given their Seattle base, JLS needed a contractor who could function independently and execute their high quality design on time and on budget.

"We worked with Norwest Contractors on John L. Scott Real Estate's new offices in Northeast Portland. Their project team was a pleasure to deal with, and we were impressed with their knowledge and professionalism. The budget was so thorough that we didn't have any change orders during construction. Norwest was able to maintain our aggressive schedule and provide a quality product. In addition, they coordinated all the subcontractors effectively and completed items on the final walkthrough quickly."
