

Zeiss Vision

Carl Zeiss Vision is a worldwide leader in developing and manufacturing ophthalmic lenses, lens coatings and dispensary technologies. Constructing their new 23,000-square-foot facility required a contractor with sound technical abilities to analyze problems and provide cost-cutting solutions that would not extend the completion date.

"We had several construction projects going on around the country, and I needed a company that could manage this job from start to finish. We were transforming a small lab space into a modern, 23,000-square-foot facility. Of the contractors we considered, Norwest was clearly the best prepared and had the most thorough bid. Besides meeting our budget, they always recommended cost-effective and creative options for us. For example, to deal with our unusual flooring requirements, Norwest came up with a great solution, which we'll be able to use in other locations as well."

Jeff Grumbling
Director of Operations, Rx Labs

